

reimagine today

reimagine today is a digital platform that provides a 4-week program of virtual reality experiences designed to help individuals with PTSD and anxiety disorders. The program is available for free to active-duty military personnel and their families.

no results